Noches Mediterráneas (Mediterranean Nights) is a document and at the same time an object inspired by the poetry and magic given off by the place.

Noches Mediterráneas is the commemorative book of the series of night-time concerts that were held in the cultural centre created by Michael Douglas in Valldemosa (Majorca), in which musicians such as Van Morrison, Art Garfunkel, Compay Segundo and Enrique Morente participated. The book is a document and, at the same time, an object inspired by the poetry and the magic exuded by the place, with the layout by Estudio Mariscal, illustrations by Mariscal, text by Fernando Merino and photographs by Joan Miquel Ferrà.
