ESTUDIO MARISCAL

We developed a new type of object which provides different uses.

The MOMA collection is a series of objects for the outside. It was decided to make a new type of furniture based on combining the functions of a flowerpot, an outdoor table and an ambience lamp. This is how MOMA came into being, a collection that is characterised for its versatility and originality.

Based on the question „How shall we sit?“, three versions arose that could be adapted to three different environments: one for chilling out, Low, complemented with a really comfortable pouffe in the same collection; another for use when sitting in a chair or armchair, Medium and the other which can be reached when standing or sitting on a stool, High, designed for the pleasure of having a drink out of doors. They are manufactured in moulded plastic.
