ESTUDIO MARISCAL

We conceived two items that do away with the boundaries between toys and furniture.

They are two items that do away with the boundaries that exist between toys and furniture. These pieces of furniture are conceived to help children grow, to awaken their imagination, so that they live better and feel as if they belong in a world of their own. They can store their treasures in the chest or they can use it as a boat to play in water, while the nest can be used by the child as a cave for taking refuge from the world of adults or as a space capsule. Children are capable of converting any object into something else, which is why it is so interesting to design for them thinking, not about their scale, but about their ingenious heads.
